

By That

It's nice to be back tramping Palm Canyon Drive again, but last night ruined something I had saved up with which to start this column. I was going to say that I never was as hot in Palm Springs as I was in Chicago June 29—but last night I was hotter. It didn't get below 73 the night before and I'll bet it was higher than that last night. Won't be able to get the official figures until after this goes to press, so can't satisfy you on that score. . . . Anyway, I inadvertently left a pack of book matches in my pajama pocket (being modest, no matter how hot it is, I always wear 'em) and this morning they were so soggy not a one would light.

CAN'T LET this one get by without a comment. In their letter to the "Lord Mayor of Palm Springs", those six British girls said all they could get in London was the bare necessities of life. And then they asked for Palm Springs bathing suits! Is there anything barer? . . . From now on a lot of people are going to address His Honor as Lord Clarence. . . . Ted Reed's airplane is grounded but he got hurt flying the other day. The reason he is walking with a limp is that he was chasing a kite string and stumbled.

NEW IDEAS department: Wish plumbers when installing showers in combination with bath tubs would put hand-holds along the wall. You know, those chromium plated items such as they have in trains and street cars. Then, when you lost the soap, you would have a place to hang on to while groping, without inviting disaster. . . . Or, perhaps, straps suspended from the ceiling like on subways and elevators. . . . If they did, the soapy terrain underneath would be no hazard. . . . Also, wish railroads would put signs on BOTH sides of the track giving station names. Then you'd know where you are. Mrs. G. says that's foolish. You know where you're going, why do you have to know where you are in between times. I maintained a dignified silence on that one. Could have mentioned a healthy interest in geography, but didn't.

TROUBLE with this nation is that too many people are putting out a mass or mess of misinformation. . . . Sat in the lounge car of the friendly S. P. last Saturday coming through the Pass and listened to a man give out the most incorrect data on "Beaumont Pass" I've ever heard. It was only my remarkable self-control, plus Mrs. G.'s restraining hand on my arm, that kept me from butting in and correcting him. He had Mt. San Bernardino on one side of the pass, San Jacinto on the other, mixed up the legend of Tahquitz with San Jacinto, and when we went through the Palm Springs station, he said "Palm Springs closes up tight for the summer; there isn't anyone there now." But every time I cleared my throat, preparatory to talking back, Mrs. G. twisted my arm. So all I could do was sit and sulk.

THE SUN seems to be read in the Midwest and east as well as in Palm Springs. . . . First thing I heard in Iowa was about that remark Mrs. G. made a few weeks ago that I'd be envious there when I saw how tall the corn grew. "It's supposed to be only knee high by July 4th", was told, "and that shouldn't make YOU jealous." . . . People are always worrying about something. Heard a learned discussion recently between two men who were of the opinion that the country was going to go to pieces because so many people were using DDT to kill pests. "They'll kill off all the bugs which eat parasites and the parasites will take over and we'll all die off," they agreed. By that time there will be something to take care of the parasites. I'm not going to worry.

THANK YOU department: From Hawaii this week came a package from Mrs. Pete Sheptenko. In it was a loud, very loud, vociferous, in fact, shirt. Some day I may have the nerve to wear it. . . . Also, thanks to Don J. Coleman, steward on the S. P. diner coming back, for real service and the way he presented that dinner George B. Hansen, S.P. G.P.A. wired him to honor me with. Coleman certainly has a way with women and children.

STICKING my neck out, still believe that the foremost action of civic bodies here concerns the rental situation. There should be some places where people who have to work for a living could get suitable living quarters at a price they can afford to pay. . . . Also, here I go again, think we should bring back the benches on the sidewalks. A few of them in shady spots would come in handy. . . . Also, during the season the city is full of blue-blooded pedigreed canines. Where do they all go in summer? There are none on the streets now. . . .

THIS ISN'T the bottom of the page, yet, but it's as far as I go this week. Take it easy on the highways, don't jaywalk, and keep out of the sun, not The Sun, as much as possible. . . . Well, whaddya know—it IS the bottom after all.

More Meat for Villagers This Week

NICE WORK—(If You Can Get It)—City Manager William E. Alworth and Councilman John Archibald, on official inspection tour of bathing suits at municipal pool following request of six British girls for glamour suits. The girls from Britain wrote "The Lord Mayor of Palm Springs" asking for glamorous bathing suits. "All we get over here are the bare necessities of life," City Manager Alworth saw to it that six bathing suits went to London forthwith. Displaying the "bare necessities" of Palm Springs above

End of OPA Control Sees But Slight Rise In Foodstuffs Costs

Situation Spotty Here With One Store Reporting a Great Increase in Supplies And Others Revealing Slight Increases

There was more meat in Palm Springs this week—but it was a little higher in price, local market men reported. But local housewives were not subjected to the sky-rocketing prices reported in other cities.

Meat, butter, eggs and bacon went up a bit—but there was more available.

As to the supply—the picture was a bit out of focus. One store reported no appreciable increase, another said the situation was "a little better" and a third, "plentiful." There are only four markets operating in the Village now.

OPTIMISTIC REPORTS

All of the proprietors were optimistic as to the outlook both as to price and volume of supply. Three of these store owners are unanimous in their belief that prices may go somewhat higher but would return to around the price levels as set by OPA during its existence. The undercurrent of opinion as to meat itself, was that it would go even lower than it was under price control.

As yet, housewives here have not been forced to pay sky-rocketing prices reported in metropolitan areas, like 70 cents for hamburger, and 80 cents to 90 cents a pound for butter.

FAIR SUPPLY

R. McClung, manager of the meat department at the Safeway Store, said that he has been enjoying a fair supply of meat but no appreciable increase in volume. He attributed this to the fact that chain grocery establishment is refusing to pay the price now asked for beef on the hoof. His company operates its own packing plants.

During the week they had a day's supply of butter, which was sold out in a short period of time after arrival. The meat he is receiving only lasted for a little while as yet. McClung is of the opinion that a greater abundance of beef will be on hand soon.

EGGS MOVE UP

The grocery department of that establishment announced an increase of one cent in the prices of all sizes and grades of eggs from 55 to 56 cents.

Leo Baker, of Sam's and Leo's, El Paso Market, declared that his meat wholesaler has promised him a fair supply but not enough to take care of the demand. He feels that the picture will change drastically as soon as the beef now being rushed to slaughterhouses by farmers, is processed and on the way to retail outlets.

"The stock is just coming to market," declared Sam Salitz of the firm, "and it takes a little time for the processing."

He added that in Los Angeles the meat is going into retail trade channels fast and that due to

Not the Heat

Yeah, You Guessed It—The Humidity!

So you thought Wednesday was the hottest day of the year, did you?

It was not—it was only 101. But, as they say quaintly in the Midwest and the east—"it isn't the heat, it's the humidity."

It was wet Wednesday and coupled with the 101 top, it really seemed HOT. Sunday's 108 was cool by comparison with Wednesday's 101, plus the humidity.

Anyway, this writer was in the Midwest two weeks ago and suffered MORE from the heat than he ever has in Palm Springs. (And won't there be a flock of deriding letters coming in as a result of that statement.)

The temperature for the past week:

Municipal Airport Plan Meets Favor

Palm Springs will be operating the local army air field as a municipally owned airport in the near future.

This became a definite probability following a meeting of a military disposition board which declared the military installation here surplus and directed that it be turned over to the U. S. District Engineers by August 15.

By August 15, Major Elgin B. Rittenberry, commanding officer, announced all air force personnel will have been transferred from the field. He also added that 76 civilian employees now employed there will either have been discharged or moved to other military installations. He said that at present there are 17 officers and seven enlisted men stationed at the air base.

COUNCIL NOTIFIED

As a result of the disposition board's action, Major Rittenberry declared that the Sixth Army will be given an opportunity to requisition any of the material not wanted by the Air Transport Command of the Army Air Forces. All or part of the equipment, after the Sixth Army acts, will be disposed through other channels, probably by the War Assets Corporation.

City fathers early last week were notified of the disposition board's action. Queried as to what action Palm Springs would take, once the field is placed in the hands of War Assets Corporation, William E. Alworth, city manager, said that the city would be entitled to get the air field back.

"The city of Palm Springs has first priority on the return of

Engineer Homer Black Is Tram Enthusiast

Of all the titanic construction projects Engineer Homer Black has had a hand in during his 60 years, he tapped a fountain of superlatives in describing his work now under way on the Mt. San Jacinto Winter Park Tramway.

As chief engineer for Morrison-Knudsen company, scheduled to construct the huge towers that will carry the tram cars, and the roadway running from the floor of the desert up Chino Canyon to the lower terminus of the lift, Black has an engineer's mental picture of the entire job.

WAXES POETIC

Usually this viewpoint is one having to do with survey lines, steel stress, cement and so many hours of man-labor. But in the case of Black, he becomes poetic about the completed project and the new vistas which will be opened for tramway users.

"Why it is the most beautiful country I have ever seen," said the widely traveled Black in talking about Long Valley, upper terminus of the Tramway. "The scene is rugged, majestic, superb! Just imagine," he added and then answering his own query, "that country up there has been a 'never, never land' except for the

Burket Again To Head Local H. S. Board

At the organizational meeting of the Board of Trustees for the Palm Springs High School district, held at noon on July 1, Charles J. Burket was reelected president of the board for the new fiscal year starting July 1, 1946, and Gordon Feelings was reelected clerk at the same meeting.

Other members of the high school board are Willard R. Hillery, Dr. Frank Purcell, and Eugene E. Theriault.

The regular July meeting of the board was held concurrently with the organization meeting required by State law to be held in all union high school districts at 12:00 noon on the first day of July. All members were present at the joint meeting except W. R. Hillery, who is spending part of the summer in Alaska.

Casa Caro Has Two Big Items This Week

Marcus Caro, former Village restaurateur, soldier in Uncle Sam's army during the war, and well known all-around Villager, had two important announcements to make this week.

First and most important was the word that at 8 a.m., Friday, July 5, at the Riverside Community hospital, Hilario Caro arrived. He weighed seven pounds, three and one-half ounces on arrival and with his mother, Vi, expects to be in Palm Springs next week-end.

HOT STUFF!

Second important announcement was that Marcus plans to go back into the cafe business here this fall.

His Marcus Cafe, featuring Spanish and Mexican dishes as only Marcus knows how to prepare them, was one of the most favorite eating spots in town before Uncle Sam put the finger on him and drew him into the army three years ago. Marcus doesn't know just where he'll be located yet but he'll be here in the fall with enchiladas, tacos, other choice items and that famous copyrighted hot sauce that only he knows how to make.

PAIR OF BOYS

The arrival of the boy last Friday makes it two boys for the Marcus Caro family. Marcus Juan Caro, Jr., celebrated his second birthday June 20.

With two boys and a cafe planned in the near future, Casa Caro is really a happy place these days.

Mayor Hyde Gets an Appeal from London

That worried look on William E. Alworth's face had nothing to do with an organic disturbance this past week.

The perplexed appearance of John Archibald, city councilman and co-owner of the Palm Springs Drug and Import company had nothing to do with trying to figure how hot it would be tomorrow. He and Alworth said they could stand the heat easily but —

Early this week Mayor Clarence Hyde was in receipt of a letter from London which he turned over to Alworth, and thereby hangs a tale. It was an innocent letter from six lassies in London, England.

BARE NECESSITIES

All these girls stated in the "round-robin" letter they signed was to emulate the appearance of our Palm Springs' bathing girls—that is, to "adorn" themselves in what is today called a bathing suit.

These six English girls, writing from Hobart Boyse, Grosvenor Place, London, S. W. 3, unwittingly tagged Mayor Clarence Hyde to whom the letter was addressed with a new "moniker"—"Lord Mayor of Palm Springs."

THE LETTER

"Dear Sir: "We are four A.T.S. and two ex-A.T.S. girls, and we write to you, in the hope that you can understand our feelings when we see glamorous bathing suits, on your local girls.

"Over here we are lucky to get bare necessities and a bathing suit is quite a luxury.

"We are willing to pay for these things and all the girls are stock size.

"Hoping you can oblige and we Surprise!

Berman, Miss Jaffee Elope to Las Vegas

Eddie Berman, co-partner of The Lido, cocktail lounge, surprised all of his friends by eloping to Las Vegas, Nevada, with Miss Ruth Jaffee of Los Angeles, last Sunday, June 7.

Without any intimation of their intentions to close friends, the couple boarded an airship at Los Angeles and were flown to the Nevada Gretna Green.

First knowledge here of their marriage occurred when Al Berman, Berman's partner, received a telegram from Las Vegas, saying that the two were married at 5 a.m. and asking for "blessings and love."

Equestrians Prepare for Initial Ride

Arrangements for the first annual Palms to Pines ride of the newly-organized Palm Springs Horseman's Association were started Wednesday when Irving Snyder, well-known winter resident of Palm Springs who has accepted chairmanship of the ride committee, met with his committee members at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

With perhaps 75 expected to join in the event, the ride has been scheduled for October 3, 4, 5 and 6, and will be confined entirely to the mountain regions, the exact route to be dependent upon feeding limitations. Invitations to become members of the newly-organized association are being sent to more than 50 residents of Palm Springs, and additional members will be added as their names are proposed, it was learned from Raymond Cree, president of the group.

CHAIRMEN NAMED

Chairmen of four important committees in charge of the ride details were named at Wednesday's meeting by General Chairman Snyder. They were: Frank Bogert, trails; Trav Rogers, food and equipment; Phil Delano and Barney Hinkle, finances, and Charles Farrell, entertainment.

This will be the first city-wide ride by Palm Springs residents in several years. Los Compadres has staged its popular annual ride each year, and the Vaqueros ride was resumed this year. The fall ride will include membership of both these groups as well as Desert Riders and other residents who hold membership in no other riding organization. Membership in the association, which seeks to sponsor breeding of good

Stork Loses in Race Down Hill Side

Mrs. Marie Bardwell, wife of Dwayne (Don) Bardwell, traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Railway, had a race with the Stork last Friday night. The course lay between Pine Cove high above Idyllwild to the Hemet Hospital, and Mrs. Bardwell won out by a scant 30 minutes.

Don Bardwell in town Monday night, proudly announced that he is the father of a new-born baby girl to be named Vicki Lynn. She is dark haired and beautiful, he exclaimed. He added that he and his wife had fervently wished for a girl because they are now parents of a son several months old.

Sometime soon, Bardwell declared, he is going to buy that box of cigars and crack open a bottle of champagne with friends here to celebrate the new addition to his family. Inasmuch as the Southern Pacific office was closed this past week, as soon as Bardwell is back in town, he hopes to receive the congratulations of his friends in person over the aforesaid shower of champagne. Both mother and child are reported doing nicely.

Red Cross Urges Education to Cut Accidents in U. S.

"A million lives will be lost within the next 10 years and ours a nation of cripples if our present accident rate continues," warned Miss Ingrid Carlson Monday, speaking as Accident Prevention chairman, Riverside county chapter, American Red Cross, according to local Red Cross branch officials. "By 'cripples,' accident preventionists mean anyone with a permanent injury—from having a stiff finger as a result of carelessness with kitchen cutlery, to being hopelessly bedridden as the result of a spinal injury. The prospect is far from pleasant."

EDUCATION NEEDED

That there is hope, however, was pointed out by the Accident Prevention chairman. Safety education is a "must" for every individual, she added, and particularly needed in that most dangerous of all places—the American home.

Home accidents have kept pace with the increase in highway fatalities, she added, and unreported home injuries have skyrocketed totals of persons injured in their own homes. Falls, burns and cuts have been the result of improper lighting, poor furniture arrangement and inattention, it was emphasized, and it was recommended that these hazards be eliminated.

OUTLINES PRECAUTIONS

Combining accident-proofing time with a mid-summer cleaning was suggested. For greater safety:

See that handrails and banisters on stairways are secure. Paint the bottom step of basement stairs white as a precaution against falls.

Arrange furniture so that "traffic lanes" are clear. Don't place chairs, footstools or tables in line with door entrances.

Destroy rags and cotton waste used in applying wax, oil, or cleaning mixtures to avoid possible fire hazards.

Clearly label poisonous cleaners and keep them out of reach of children.

There is a great difference between a world government that represents the peoples of the world and one that represents the nations of the world. To obtain the former will require a long slow process of education—Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

"I Rise to Remark"

By CONGRESSMAN JOHN PHILLIPS

The writer of this column is as curious as any of its readers to see what will happen between the time it is written, on July 2 (the second day of the second freedom) and the day it appears in the papers. This would be a good time to have that crystal ball! Failing that, I turn to a book more comforting than any crystal ball. The exhortation of Samuel slightly abbreviated, seems to apply:

"Be strong, and quit yourselves like men, and fight."

There never was a time when courage and leadership were more needed in the Congress. I was not here when WPA died, but those who were tell me of the similarity. The counterpart, at that time, of the hysterical and untruthful Mr. Bowles of today, supported by the left-wing organizations, as now, screamed that starvation and chaos would result. WPA was ended, and there was no starvation and no chaos. I do remember very well, when California ended the State Relief Administration (SRA). The same dire predictions were heard, some from the same people who, now employed in Washington agencies, prophesy disaster with the ending of the OPA. The SRA was ended and all was calm in California.

The Congress sent the President a bill to continue price controls for one year. I didn't like it, because it still contained the consumer subsidy program which has destroyed nations and could destroy this nation. Mr. Bowles didn't like it because it took food control from him and gave it to the Secretary of Agriculture. It also said any farmer or any manufacturer was entitled to the costs of production, plus a reasonable profit, and I can't think of any more basic American principle.

The President vetoed the bill. The kindest thing to think, to quote Mr. Fulton Lewis' broadcast of July 1, who in turn, quoted Senator Wherry, was that the President had swallowed the dose administered by the OPA, the PAC of the CIO, and the Communist Party, and hadn't studied the matter. I myself called attention to the fact that the veto message was not the President's style, but was the style of the Bowles' broadcasts. It was as inaccurate as any of the OPA releases.

Mr. Lewis checked the veto statements, like those about steel and automobiles. He found no thought on those commodities. The House did not pass the bill over the veto; a minority prevented it. OPA died at midnight Sunday.

Monday OPA spent its time releasing warning statements about rising prices. Congress spent its time exposing their inaccuracies. Steers were reported selling on a wild market; instead, they sold for $22.50, only $4.50 over the OPA ceiling which has driven 83% of our meat into unregulated slaughter. Hogs were up, but dropped $2 on Tuesday. Meat is coming into the market and you'll have it again. Oranges were reported zooming; instead they were a dollar under the ceiling on ten principal markets.

There will be increases. When we've been trying to fool ourselves for three years; there must come an eventual awakening. Just keep in mind that until you pay more than 57c for round steak; 47c or rib roast; 46c for pork chops; 71c for ham; 18c for milk, and I haven't space to give more, and remember that costs vary east and west, you aren't paying more than present costs, to you, through subsidies, except that before you also paid the salaries of the thousands of bureaucratic parasites who administered them.

Mr. Lewis investigated one of the OPA news releases, that said butter was selling in the District for high prices. He reports it as untrue. He checked all chains and many independents; all were selling at 67c. Of course, if you really want butter back on the market, the price will have to cover the cost of manufacture.

Right now there is no price control law. The House passed a twenty day extension. I voted against it. A temporary measure was pointless, as you have since observed; the Senate isn't acting on it. We can just as easily discuss a substitute for the bill the President vetoed. A temporary measure only confuses the people, who shouldn't be confused any more than now. I voted for a temporary rent control, for that is what is causing the "scare" in the country. There are arguments on both sides, but it would save concern to come out of that gradually.

With OPA or without OPA, prices will rise. OPA has increased the prices of 824 items in the last few months, some greatly. That's Something OPA doesn't like to publicize. Prices could go up less without OPA than with it. The fate of Price controls rests not with the Congress, but with the manufacturers, and the wholesalers, and the retailers, and you and you and you, as they say over the radio. Restrain yourselves like men, and fight, and OPA, like WPA and SRA, will soon be a memory. Let yourself go, and the country will have a price control imposed on it that can lead into national socialism, which is the earnest desire of the clamorous left-wing groups who now lead the cheering section for OPA reinstatement.

The total number of Federal employees under Civil Service during the administration of Rutherford B. Hayes was about 3,500.

Muriel Fulton's Office Kept Open

Muriel E. Fulton, president of the Palm Springs Realty Board and who operates a realty office here, announced that although her associates will keep her place of business open here during the summer she will spend her time, with the exception of one day, between "Four Chimneys", swank hotel atop Idyllwild, and her Orchard farm at Banning. Miss Fulton is president of the mountain resort hotel organization. She advises that realty board members may communicate with her through her local office by mail.

Rent Situation in Village Under Survey by County

Requests for detailed information on the rental situation in Palm Springs was received by Harry Harper, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce today from county supervisors.

At its meeting this week, the board of supervisors acted favorably on a request of Supervisor Clarence Steves of Corona to conduct a county rental survey. Chairman Robert Dillon of the board was asked to contact all county Chamber secretaries on the rental situation.

TO GO TO GOVERNOR

When reports are received, they will be forwarded to Governor Warren's office.

Decision to analyze the rental situation in this county was made following reading Monday of a telegram from the governor asking for a report on what the situation will be as of August 1.

According to Chairman Dillon, rents are the "bugbear" of the present chaotic economic conditions. Supervisor Walter V. Pittman, Riverside, said that many persons have come to him with reports that they have received eviction notices and asked him what the county governing board is going to do about it.

PIPE LINE BIDS

Bids on a new franchise for a pipe line to carry natural gas from Texas into the Southern California area will be received by the supervisors August 19 at 10 a.m., according to a resolution adopted by the board at this week's meeting. The new pipe line will be used jointly by the Southern California Gas company and the Southern Counties Gas company, according to R. T. McFadden.

Mrs. Jessamine Hampton, chairman of the county probation committee, accompanied by George M. Wills, committee member, and Probation Officer F. Harold Butterfield, presented a proposal that the supervisors purchase land adjoining the juvenile hall grounds in Arlington to provide for future expansion of the institution. A strip 66 x 660 feet can be bought for $4000, the board was told.

SALARY ADJUSTMENT

No action was taken by the board on a request that salaries of county agricultural inspectors be adjusted upward and thus brought into line with those paid in other California counties for comparable work. The request was made by Donald Stevning, representing the Riverside-Arlington Heights Fruit Exchange. Indorsing Stevning's request was J. Norman Irving, chairman of the Riverside County Farm Production committee, and William H. Wright, county agricultural commissioner.

Following Wright's report that he is unable to hire competent inspectors at salaries allowed under county ordinances, Stevning suggested a resurvey of the official county salary ordinance. This suggestion was supported by County Counsel Earl Redwine and Supervisor W. V. Pittman.

NEW MACHINES

Action on a proposed agreement covering installation of new business machines in the offices of the county auditor, assessor, recorder and tax collector was postponed to a future meeting.

A resolution covering employment of nurses at the county hospital was adopted, as was another calling for employment of an additional senior stenographer-clerk in the office of County Clerk C. A. Pequegnat.

It will not be many days before commercial as well as military aircraft will never be grounded, or landing fields closed to approaching aircraft, because of weather conditions. Flight schedules will be maintained safely. Col. Ben S. Kelsey, ATS all-weather flying division chief, Wright Field, Ohio.

Truck-Car Crash Is Fatal to 1

Miss Doris Jane Murry, 25, of 6249 Pala street, Bell, was instantly killed early Tuesday morning when the automobile driven by her cousin, Earl L. Gerberding, of the same address, ran into a truck, 1½ miles east of White-water, as they were returning from a trip to Mexico City.

According to State Highway Patrolman Harold Simpson, who, with Highway Patrolman Gene Henderson, investigated the accident, Mr. Gerberding, who was recently discharged from the service, went to sleep at the wheel. The accident occurred at 1:30 a.m., Tuesday.

Mr. Gerberding was critically injured and was taken to the Palm Springs hospital. It was not yet known whether or not he will survive the accident. Miss Murry's remains were brought to Wiefels and Son chapel at Banning, where an inquest was conducted at two o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Eldon Arlie Copus of Niland, driver of the truck, was uninjured. He was bringing a load of canteloupes into Los Angeles.

The Federal Bureau of Geological survey was established in 1879.

California Will Score Again

By ETHEL GILLET WHITEHORN

Three and a half months from now, the voters of California will go to the polls again. They meant business when they voted in the recent primary election, and on next November 5, it will be their firm intention to augment that business.

The huge vote of confidence extended to Governor Warren six weeks ago is an inspiration to him just as it is an inspiration to the voters themselves. And now, with the decks cleared of numerous candidates, the voters have an unobstructed view of the final political scene. They will make no mistakes in November. They know, that due to their efforts in June, the State of California has won national acclaim. They intend to increase that acclaim.

California must make changes in its Congressional delegation. This State has 23 members in the House of Representatives—17 Democrats and 6 Republicans. Those who have proved by their acts that they are loyal to the Constitution of the United States, should have the support of their constituents in the coming election. Those who have consistently taken the road to socialism and communism, must be soundly defeated.

SHOULD KNOW RECORDS

Every California voter should have a thorough knowledge of the shameful voting records of the following Congressmen: Helen Gahagan Douglas, Clyde Doyle, Ted Healy, Ed Izac, George Miller, George Outland, Harry Shepard, Jerry Voorhis, and Frank Havenner. This writer will submit those records to the voters during the months of August, September and October.

California will elect one United States Senator. In that race, Senator William F. Knowland will oppose Will Rogers, Jr. Last September, Governor Warren appointed William Knowland to the Senate to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hiram Johnson. In his campaign, before the primaries, Junior Rogers released literature which carried the statement that Governor Warren's appointment of William Knowland was the pay-off of a political debt. The voters of California will not take kindly to that statement. They know that Governor Warren places the welfare of this state far above his own personal interests. They know that in his selection of William Knowland, he was placing in the United States Senate a seasoned legislator who, like himself, has the deepest reverence for constitutional law.

Also, in his arguments, prior to the June election, Will Rogers Jr. advertised himself as a straight Democrat. This writer will prove, by submitting his voting record when he was a member of Congress, that he is not a straight Democrat.

SIMPLE DEFINITION

Thomas Jefferson's genius laid the foundation of the Democratic party. A straight Democrat, like a straight Republican, believes that the people are capable of governing themselves. He believes in the fullest measure of personal liberty and the strictest interpretation of the Constitution and the conservation of the rights of the States. He is opposed to the centralization of power in the Federal Government. Unfortunately, the Democratic Party finds itself in the position of being almost submerged by thousands of its members who cry to high Heaven that they are straight Democrats.

Junior Rogers' voting proves beyond the question of a doubt that he did not follow the ideals of Thomas Jefferson. When he was a member of Congress, it was his consistent habit to vote against measures that were healthy for America.

It is logical to believe that the citizens of California place a very high value on the fine judgment of Governor Warren. The vote of confidence they extended to him should also be extended to Senator Knowland next November.

What Goes On at Rancho Mirage

The new Legion Hall is already filling a long overdue need of a meeting place out this way. Our new neighbor, Frank Bogert, from next door at the Thunderbird Ranch took me at my word in last week's column and has asked to use the building for the first meeting of the Palm Springs Post of the American Veterans of World War II. Frank has arranged for the get-together on Friday evening, July 26, at 8 o'clock.

If someone else doesn't beat you to them, the Legion has two bedrooms for rent. These are for men only and preferably for men who don't mind a card game going on in the next room. If interested, see Charlton Drew, who is in charge of the building. He plans to have sandwiches and soft drinks. If properly approached he may do some catering to private parties. Just a tip: He is famous out this way for his chili.

George and Agnes Boldin dropped in this week. George was curious to see if his pet Legion Post was on its toes. George's appearance scotched the rumor that somehow had gotten around that he was a patient in the Palm Springs Community hospital suffering violently from asthma, gout, housemaid's knee, etc., etc. Funny how these things start.

From Southbury, Connecticut, Jack Swetland writes to say that he wishes he were back here enjoying Rancho Mirage as New England is having one of its worst heat waves in years. Jack has been broadcasting over WBBY, Waterbury, Conn., and Lilli is busy with her magazine articles. They will be back this fall to their adobe here.

The Bob Wilcoxes are back again after a month's stay in Riverside. In case you don't know it, Captain Bob is in charge on the Indio sub-station of the Riverside county sheriff's office and he and his family are living in the Swetland house. It was at his instigation that the very much appreciated night patrol started flashing spot lights on the crop of new buildings here, at Palm Village and at Thunderbird. His territory extends from Blythe to the curve south of Cathedral City.

Estelle Ewart and daughter, Jane, are at Crestline for the month. Young Eddie went along to supervise the women, leaving Ed and nephew, Bill Curtis, to stack all the lumber that is in and out faster than it can be taken care of.

The Jack Foxes and son, Johnnie, moved back to Beverly Hills recently. Jack has been associated with the Harbor Construction company in building two houses down on neighbor Cliff Henderson's "Palm Desert" tract. Almost any day now we look for construction to start on Ran-

DeVine's Market Sold to L. A. Man is Announcement

Connie and Johnny DeVine, who have been watching out for the food needs of Villagers for the past eight years, plan to start a long rest next week. They have sold out their DeVine's Market at 187 East Amado road, to Jerry Nathanson of Los Angeles. The deal is expected to be completed next week.

The DeVines, popular and well known in the Village, have no plans for the immediate future. "We're going to take a vacation—part of the time at the coast, the rest of it just sitting at our home, 527 Calle de Rolph," said Johnny. "We've been at it for eight years and think a rest will do us good."

The market will be closed for a few days while the deal is being completed. Nathanson is an experienced market man and will announce his plans soon.

dall Henderson's new building, into which he is going to move the popular Desert Magazine which has done so much to bring the spirit of the desert into the lives of so many people.

The surprise of the week came when George Ashley announced the sale of his Desert Gem Shop to rancher Jim Smith. Jim has not as yet announced his plans but whatever they are we wish him luck.

The reason you don't see Bill Munchoff around these days is that he and Johnny Bischoff take off at 4:00 a.m. Bill is building an unusual new cocktail lounge for Mrs. Imes down on Highway 99, near Valerie Jean's and Johnny Hilton.

Audrey Boyken flew down from San Francisco the other day to join her parents, the Bill Boykens, who have been spending three weeks in their new house here. They are returning to San Francisco tomorrow.

Ron Button and Floyd Rister came down this afternoon. They are staying at the Judge Krull adobe, which Ron has rented until his new house on San Jacinto drive is completed.

Oh! my aching back! I knew I shouldn't have been down swiping those grapes from Doc Gurely's vineyard. Cheerio, mates.

Black said that the roadway from the floor of the desert to the lower end of the tramway at the 2650 foot elevation has already been surveyed. An automobile parking lot capable of taking care of approximately 1500 automobiles has also been staked out.

HIGH GEAR ROAD

The road will be one of the finest on the desert and it is expected that automobilists will be able to negotiate the distance in high gear. Its length will be in the neighborhood of four and one-half miles.

Black and Gordan Bannerman, chief tramway engineer for the American Steel and Wire company left Thursday morning for Idyllwild and from there by horseback to Long Valley. While there, the two will again check survey lines over which the tramway will travel. They are expected to return to Palm Spring Friday night or Saturday morning.

Speedy Beaumont Merchants Make it Five Straight Wins

The speedy Beaumont Merchants kept their record simon pure in the week's play in the current softball league and now boast five straight wins out of five starts.

The second place Palm Springs Lions took it on the chin 8 to 0 at Beaumont Tuesday night to keep them in a tie with the Boys Club. The latter outfit downed the Palm Springs Transfer team 13 to 6 at the Field club to draw into second spot alongside the Lions.

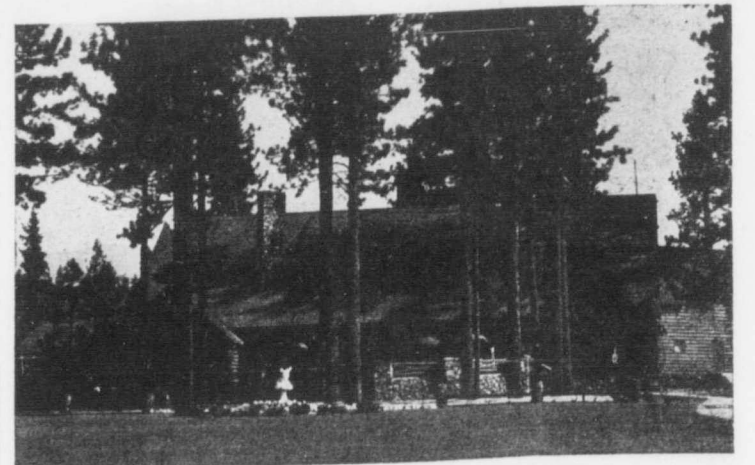

Last night, Lions and Rotary clashed here and next Tuesday there'll be a hot battle when the Beaumont league leaders tangle with the fast-moving Boys Club here.

Rotarians meet Beaumont at Beaumont next Thursday night, while at the same time, the Lions will be host to the Transfer team at the Field club.

Standings in the loop as of Wednesday, are:

Hughes Reported Dying Today

Howard Hughes, multi-millionaire aviation manufacturer, motion picture producer and well-known in Palm Springs, was reported sinking at a hospital in Los Angeles today. His lung, injured in the crash of the plane he was piloting, was reported badly congested and for the past 48 hours Hughes has been able to breathe only pure oxygen.

Just a week before his airplane accident he was discussing the features of the giant amphibian plane his company manufactured, with a reporter of The Desert Sun in Palm Springs.

This morning he asked the doctor attending him if he was going to die. The physician was reported to have said he could not say positively. As a result, Hughes dictated the cause that led to the crash of the plane which he was flight testing for the army.

California has the largest amount of developed water power of any state in the Union.

Pattern for Peace

In his recent speech to the House of Commons, Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin put his finger on the basic cause for the diplomatic impasse between Russia and the Western Nations when he declared, "Our Soviet friends have a theory that they alone represent the workers, that they alone are democratic."

"This leads to the idea," he continued, "That the security of Russia can only be maintained when every country in the world has adopted the Soviet system. This is . . . a great obstacle to peace."

Mr. Bevin's speech was sincere in tone and statesmanlike in quality. In the face of a rising chorus of criticism from Moscow against Britain and America he presented his Government's position in a calm, clear and firm manner. He extended the hand of friendship to Russia but made it plain that Britain was unwilling to gain peace at any price.

By endorsing the Byrnes Plan for a guaranteed 25-year disarmament of Germany he put the matter squarely up to the Kremlin. Since this plan aims to prevent the re-birth of German militarism, and since Russia professes to fear such a rebirth, the Soviets would do well to accept Bevin's advice not to miss this "great opportunity" to preserve peace.

If Russia continues to reject the Byrnes Plan the belief will grow that what Moscow really hopes for is not that America will stay in Europe and fulfill her obligations but that she will get tired and pull out, and leave the Communists in a better position to extend their influence over the whole continent.

These are the days in which the future form of the so-called "brave new world" is being molded. Now it can be shaped more easily for peace. If this is not done, it will be hard to remodel it later on.

Mr. Bevin has carved out a good design for peace. Mr. Byrnes has contributed much to the pattern. The next move would appear to be up to Mr. Molotov.

Come Again

A Hollywood motorist had his car stolen. A few days later it was found back at the same parking place where it had been left originally. The thief left a note of apology for taking the car and said that during the time he had used it a new tire, a new fuel pump and fuel line had been installed.

The motorist undoubtedly would like to catch the thief—so he could let him steal the car again for a few days!

France's "4th of July"

The storming of the Bastille by a Parisian mob on July 14, 1789 was but one of the many events that made up the French Revolution. But it became a symbol of resistance to oppression—a symbol which the French have had occasion to rally to more than once since that time.

As France celebrates the 157th anniversary of Bastille Day she is recovering from the effects of another of the great upheavals through which she has passed on several occasions since 1789. In spite of enormous economic difficulties and marked political unrest her present rate of progress is notable. Already France has regained her stature as a world power to a degree thought impossible not long ago.

And in refusing to permit a communist-dominated government the French people have shown that in spite of the severity of their problems they are not looking for an "easy" way out.

Today we Americans extend our best wishes to a brave people on the anniversary of the storming of the Bastille. At the same time we are offering them a helping hand so that they may soon realize the happier and more prosperous days that must lie ahead.

Free Press And A Free World

Speaking at the recent convention of the National Editorial Association at Estes Park, Colorado, Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of The Denver Post, declared his belief that world freedom of the news is essential to avert a catastrophe for civilization.

What Mr. Hoyt and many others both in and out of the newspaper profession realize is that wars are largely built up on propaganda. Both the Nazis and the Japs demonstrated that. If the peoples of the world were permitted to know the truth about one another and were given the straight facts concerning events of international importance there would be much less danger of misunderstanding and friction.

But as desirable as it would be to have an uncensored flow of information throughout the world, the outlook for it is not at all bright. Real press freedom has not been achieved as yet in fascist countries such as Argentina and Spain, and there is little likelihood that Russia will draw back the "iron curtain" surrounding her own borders and the other countries she dominates.

The recent expulsion from the Balkans of an American newspaper correspondent who reported that Communists were using strong-arm methods to maintain political control, indicates that Russian censorship will continue. Dictatorships—fascist or communist—cannot tolerate a free press.

Despite this discouraging outlook, however, we Americans should continue our efforts toward the establishment of a worldwide free press, not only for the sake of other peoples but for our own good as well.

As long as these efforts are handled with discretion we have nothing to lose by them and it is possible that very much may be gained.

Before Your Eyes
By BILL RASHALL

I'M GLAD Phat is back. Now I can go back to my carefree days of just worrying about my few story assignments and forget the darn things the moment they are finished. Being editor may have its compensations and good ones too, but all I found was just worry and plenty of hard work.

Despite that experience on my part, am scheduled to relieve Mrs. Barkow as editor pro-tem. of the Banning Record for three weeks. Both she and her husband are going to take a vacation, the first one in years.

RAN INTO George Strebe, new owner of the Doll House on Palm Canyon yesterday. He wants to enlarge the space of that popular restaurant but is beset with building regulations and restrictions.

"How did you know four weeks ago," he asked, "that I was going to buy the Doll House? Braggingly I answered that was the reason for a newspaper, namely, to report the news the moment it becomes news."

GOT A KICK out of Ruby of the Dunes just before he left for Chicago, Detroit and Florida. He called the Desert Sun and gave explicit instructions on where to send his copy of the paper. "Want to keep abreast of what's going on at home," he said. Many others have done the same thing.

AN INTERESTING character I had the pleasure of meeting this past week is Homer Black. He is here in charge of Morrison-Knudsen company's share of the work leading to the construction of the Tramway. An engineer of many years experience, 60, and plenty rugged, his eyes light up like a little boy's when he starts to talk about the Tramway. In addition, he has fallen in love with Palm Springs. Said he was playing with the idea of staying right here after the Tramway is completed . . . and that's good coming from him. He has been everywhere in following his profession.

BILL DAVIS of the Colonial House, now in Las Vegas on business, has been reported there by many Villagers just returned from that Gretna Green. Earl Strebe was seen there, too. It is said one has to stand in line for a chance at the "come-armed-bandits" which dot the scenery there in such numbers. Thelma Davis made a hurried trip there last week-end and just as quickly returned. She is struggling with the re-construction of the fire-damaged dining room of her swanky hotel. It isn't the heat that bothers her, but the scarcity of skilled workmen and materials which have a tendency to melt most anybody trying to build these days.

FISKE, the Dempsey-like bartender at the Lido, has a hobby. Listening to his "New Joisey" accent, one would hardly associate him with the art of writing poetry. But he writes it, and song lyrics, too! Here and there through his stanzas, the racing ponies get all mixed up. He "follows" them, too.

Frank, who works with him at the same place, had a narrow escape the other day, which reminded him of the Italian campaign in which he took part during the war just closed. It's a good one to remember, too, during these hot summer days. In the act of placing hot bottles of beer in a cold icebox, one of them exploded almost in his face. "It was worse than a hand grenade," he said, picking tiny slivers of glass out of his face.

FRANK BENNETT, owner of Deep Well Ranch, his wife, Melba, son, ex-lieutenant, junior grade of the Navy and Deedee, daughter, were off this week for a spot near Lake Louise, in British Columbia. "Going to do a bit of fishing there," Frank said. The family will be back during the first week of September.

STORN GRASS as it may seem, there is corn growing on Palm Canyon drive. If you don't believe this, notice the healthy stalk shooting upward right under the office window occupied by Judge Eugene Thierau.

WHAT'S STOCK SIZE

Alworth, who was given the letter, read it and then quickly reached for a telephone and called Archibald. To buy six bathing suits the city manager later said, perhaps would not be a hard task to perform. However, where all of the confusion came in and is still perplexing both men, is the phrase in the letter which said: "and all the girls are stock size."

Tuesday Alworth and Archibald asked the Desert Sun to go out and recruit some girls of "stock" size. This done, all gathered at the municipal swimming pool including the two city officials. Aside from the vision of so much loveliness being a nice one to behold, the problem of what is a "stock size," is still a mystery and both men were eager to accomplish the selection of bathing suits.

TAKE A CHANCE

Just the same it has been decided to take a chance. Six of these swimming suits will be purchased today and sent to England. Alworth and Archibald are donating one each, the Desert Sun, Tom Holland, of the Palm Springs Department and Hardware company, Muriel Fulton, realtor and one anonymous person are the donors of the balance of the bathing suits.

Commenting on the entire matter later, Alworth was heard to remark:

"From sewage problems to glamour, it's all in a day's work at the city hall."

"It's nice work—if you can get it," he added as he looked for more scanty bathing suits—on the counters of local stores, that is.

Airport . . .

the field to the city," declared Alworth.

MODERN AIRPORT

In the event the city gets the field, all facilities for the operation of a modern airport will be put to use. Alworth said that he has asked the Civilian Aeronautical Authority for advice as to the method of operation. By this, it is meant whether it would be wise to operate it under the direct supervision of the city or through lease arrangements.

The city council has as yet not decided upon any method of operation. However, in any event, Palm Springs is assured of a municipal airport capable of handling anything from the small flying "Cub" to the mammoth flying goliaths of the air.

Alworth said that the city has been in receipt of many proposals from private individuals asking to lease or rent part of the airport.

FAVOR CITY PLAN

Although Alworth did not even intimate what course the city would take it is well known by the Desert Sun as was indicated in a series of articles several months ago, that CAA favors municipal ownership. Further, pilots with long experience as well as many prominent citizens, favored the control of the airport by the employment of a port manager by the city.

At that time, it was pointed out, this direction was easier said than done. The cost of operating so huge an airfield, maintenance of runways, tower control and weather station employees presented an initial financial problem. Several months ago, operations officer, Major John MacFayden recommended that the electric wiring along the six and seven thousand foot runways be repaired. These wires are used to light the runways during night landings and for safety lights. The major's suggestion was apparently turned down inasmuch as VJ-day had come and gone and the disposition of the field was being debated.

people and do they love dogs! You should see the swanky kennels he has built. Village canines renting "rooms" there really live in the proverbial Palm Springs' style.

SURPRISED At the interest shown in last week's column dealing with rents and us poor stiff who work in this town in order to make enough money to buy hamburger at the price it is selling for now. However, the guys who might be able to do something about the situation said nary a word. All of the interest came from those who fear what will happen next season unless there is some form of rent control.

Understand that the city council can legally impose a ceiling.

A Statement From the BUILDING INDUSTRY Of Palm Springs

We, whose names are undersigned, represent the men who have furnished the materials and the ingenuity for the construction of the homes, stores, offices, apartments and hotels for Palm Springs.

We recognize that the building industry has played a leading part in building and maintaining a sound economy in this nation.

We believe that the nation today faces a serious problem in furnishing homes for veterans, to whom we owe so much.

We know that the country must be kept on an even keel, where the confidence of the people in our free institutions shall be maintained.

We believe that the control of the practices and prices within the building industry is a problem for the industry itself. We accept this responsibility.

During this period of shortages of critical materials, when the construction demand is the greatest we have ever experienced, it will be the policy of the members of this industry to maintain individual price structures which are commensurate with sound business, and we will be opposed to any attempt to obtain unreasonable margins of profit, as being detrimental to the public welfare.☆

This resolution is subscribed to by all the undersigned, who represent a major part of the Palm Springs building industry.

Hollywood Goes All Wet as Aqua Follies Draw Throngs to Swim Stadium

With the world premiere of "Aqua Follies" starting yesterday at the Olympic Swim Stadium, Hollywood turned its magic production talents to a new medium, a gigantic water spectacle.

The "Aqua Follies" show, a Larry Crosby production, is sponsored by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce, and will be presented for a two-week run.

In a lavish tropical setting, under starlit sky, aquatic acts set to music and featuring world famous swimming and diving champions will present water ballets with upwards of a score of beautiful "auabelles". In addition there will be a group of gorgeous "Swim Queens", and the Monoa auaboard ballet, twelve winsome misses who perform their sensational dance on paddle boards. Featured performers will be famed swimming sensation Helen Crenkovich Morgan; world famous diver "Dutch" Smith; holder of all backstroke records, Adolph Kiefer. Water ballet numbers will be presented by Russ and Audrey Saunders, Lita Morgan and the well-known Brown twins, Patsy and Martha.

Production is under direction of Larry Crosby and his staff, with costumes, sets, decorations, and lighting being arranged by a corps of skilled experts translating their studio production talents to this new medium of water. Opening of the show was a regular Hollywood "premiere" with motion picture stars, sports personalities, and society and civic luminaries witnessing the first performance.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Saunders, their son Jerry and Gerialin Matison, all of Los Angeles, are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. James Whitehorn at their Crestline cottage.

Mrs. Whitehorn, editor of the Republican Spokesman, writer of a nationally-read column in The Desert Sun, is relaxing in the San Bernardino mountains preparatory to active participation in the coming November political campaign.

Her weekly articles in The Desert Sun on the situation in California have been reprinted by more than 200 state newspapers.

You might as well follow the crowd and they all seem to end up at the "municipal" swimming pool.

From Wednesday, July 3, to July 10, attendance mounted to 497 persons. The greatest number were children amounting to 254; adults, 195 and high school students 48.

The pool has been in operation for twelve days with a total attendance of 759 people.

Might as well cool off those "tootsies."

Muriel Fulton Hostess at Gay Barbecue Affair

Miss Muriel E. Fulton played the gracious hostess to a group of her friends at a delightful barbecue on the grounds of "Four Chimneys", atop Idyllwild, the evening of July 3.

This ultra-luxurious mountain lodge jammed to capacity with guests, saw Mr. and Mrs. Fred Starr and their two lovely daughters, Margery and Mary, all of Piedmont, presented for the occasion. Also there were: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kaiser and family of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. John Hatch, Palm Springs; Jack Downey, manager of "Four Chimneys", his wife and two children, Kuhl and Tokie; Mr. and Mrs. Irving Sanborn, Redwood City; Mrs. Irma Fulton, mother of Muriel; Mrs. Vena Armstrong, San Francisco; Miss Yvonne Ramus, Palm Springs and Beverly Hills and Tommie Tyndall, ski expert of Snow Valley and the Village.

Add One More To Population Of Palm Springs

The population of Palm Springs is moving upwards by leaps and bounds.

Practically every day this week, came a telephone call to the city desk to herald the arrival of a new Villager.

This story has to do with the arrival July 1 of Sharon Gaye Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen R. Smith of 749 Prescott drive. Young Sharon weighed 6 pounds, 7 ounces on arrival at Community hospital here.

His dad was formerly with the U. S. Army and stationed at Torney General hospital and later a member of the Palm Springs Police force. Right now he is busy making things grow in Palm Springs as a gardener.

The boy and his mother are getting along in great shape.

Police Chief A. G. Kettman, Mrs. Kettman and daughters took off from Palm Springs for a brief respite from the warm desert days. They were due back in the Village today.

MORE ABOUT ... More Meat ...

the distance of Palm Springs from the center of supply, it will be a week or two until the picture shows any improvement here.

LOOKS FOR INCREASE

"So far, prices are about the same," Leo announced. "There will be a slight increase and in that event on adjustment will take place as soon as the supply meets the demand."

However, he quoted the prices of butter at 88 cents a pound, a hike of 16 cents a pound.

Bacon, ham and meat will also show a slight increase in price for a little while anyway, was the opinion of Sam. His market quoted a price increase of 3 cents per dozen of eggs.

ROSIEST OF ALL

Hutch Mosely reported the rosiest picture of all in town with reference to beef.

"The picture looks very bright," he said in commenting on meat supplies. "Starting today (Wednesday) we will have plenty of meat in our counters. Next week there will be a good supply of lamb, too," he added.

His price on the advance of eggs was similar to that of Sam and Leo's, 3 cents per dozen. He continued by saying that generally, the price of meat has gone up about 13 cents a pound but would come down just as soon as the supply of processed meat hit the market in abundance. Bacon prices quoted by Mosely showed very little increase but he predicted that for a time, anyway, the price of pork, bacon and ham would go up. Ham-burger, he said, was selling at 45 cents a pound last Wednesday. Steaks jumped ahead 13 cents and roasts ten to eleven cents per pound.

WILL COME DOWN

With the exception of one or two items, Mosely said that grocery prices were the same as set by OPA.

"I think that meat prices will come down within two or three weeks," opined Mosely.

Gordon Feekings was in town on a brief visit this week and later went to Riverside to attend a meeting of the Republican central committee.

The first telegraph line in the United States was completed in May, 1844.

Amvets to Gather at Rancho Mirage for Party July 26

Veterans of World War II in Palm Springs and surrounding communities are invited to be present at a get-together, 8 p.m. July 26, at the Legion Hall, located at Rancho Mirage.

The affair, which will be sponsored by the newly organized Palm Springs post of the American Veterans of World War II, will see the signing of the charter roles by new members of that service organization.

Frank Bogert, commander of the AMVETS here, announced that Ronald Button, California state commander and developer of Rancho Mirage, will be present. At the same time it was announced every veteran of World War II is invited to take part in the social activities following a short business session.

Refreshments will be served and a program of entertainment is planned. Although no one will be asked to join AMVETS, it is desired that veterans of the war just closed be made acquainted with the program and platform of that organization.

At present there are enough new members to sign three charter rolls to guarantee the establishment of a post in Palm Springs.

Bank of America Plea for Orient Branches Okayed

Bank of America has been notified by the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D. C., that the bank's applications for permission to establish branches in Shanghai and Manila have been granted, according to L. M. Giannini, president, in a message to Fred Ingram, Palm Springs branch manager this week.

"There is general agreement," said Giannini, "that much of the future growth of our Pacific Coast rests upon the development of trade with the Far East. This contemplated extension of actual banking operations to the Orient is one further step in Bank of America's plan to foster such international trade."

It is said that this will be the first extension by any Pacific Coast bank to the Far East. Announcements as to personnel and the nature of the Shanghai and Manila operations are deferred until a later date.

LOOK to Greyhound first for

MORE FREQUENT SERVICE

Most bus travelers will tell you the one thing they value most about Greyhound service is its convenience. They like to be able to go . . . and come back . . . when they want to.

Greyhound recognized this important fact from the start . . . planned and acted accordingly. Result: Greyhound, today, has built up a truly amazing frequency of daily service unequalled by any other system of intercity transportation!

This achievement in public service has taken years of pioneering experience, a great fleet of buses, willingness to accept financial risk . . . and, most important, real faith in the future of the communities Greyhound serves. For Greyhound looks ahead, and often increases frequency of service before increased patronage exists.

Greyhound knows your community . . . has confidence in its progress . . . and will continue to anticipate its growing transportation needs in the years ahead by providing better, more frequent service than ever.

$14,765 in Fight
to Reduce Costs

The board of supervisors, in its weeks-long battle of the budget, sliced $14,765 from total requests made by county officials and department heads, a study of figures set up in the preliminary budget now virtually ready for printing shows.

Total amount requested was $6,381,331. Total allowed in the official preliminary budget is $6,366,566. Appropriated for operation of the county government last year was $5,277,276.

CUT SALARY REQUESTS

The county fathers cut requests for the salary fund from $1,883,295 to $1,864,825. On the other hand, they added to the general fund to bring it from $967,620 to $981,385. Requested amount for welfare and relief was undisturbed at $2,443,616. The request for the county fair and date festival, $22,800, was cut to $12,740.

By classification the preliminary budget shows the following: General government raised from the requested $656,502 to $704,792. Protection to person and property cut from $959,276 to $935,601. Conservation of Health cut from $97,769 to $94,569. Highways and bridges showed no change at $535,340. Charities and corrections cut from $3,630,834 to $3,627,459. Education cut from $26,785 to $24,865. Reclamation was undisturbed at $8800. Immigration was cut from $13,225 to $11,400. Unappropriated reserve was left at $100,000 and general reserve at $300,000.

AVAILABLE AUGUST 9

Copies of the preliminary budget will be available to the public on August 9, according to County Auditor Ray T. Hicks. Protests will be received by the supervisor from August 9 to 19. Adoption of the final budget will come on August 19.

Andy Anderson
Beams this Week;
Yep, It's a Boy

Herman (Andy) Anderson, manager of the Standard Oil station at Amado road and Palm Canyon drive, wasn't on the job greeting customers with his usual cheerful smile the fore part of the week.

That cheerful smile had expanded into a broad grin elsewhere.

At 4:22 p.m., Monday afternoon, a baby boy arrived for his wife, Ruth M. Anderson, at Community hospital, weighing in at six pounds, six ounces.

The new arrival has been named Herman Michael and he and his mother are just doing fine, thank you.

Experienced Help

Are you a power line-man? If you are, there is a good steady job waiting for you with the California Electric Power company, according to an announcement by Francis Crocker, superintendent of the Palm Springs district. He said that during the war few young men were apprenticed to the trade and as a result there is a dearth of experienced linemen.

At present, Crocker added, three ex-servicemen are working for his company under the GI Bill of Rights, "on-the-job-training."

Hassett Probation

Edgar B. Hassett of Palm Springs will face Judge O. K. Morton in superior court, July 29, to hear report on his appeal for probation and if it is denied, to face sentence.

Hassett was arrested here a few weeks ago on a morals charge.

Moya Henderson Writes from the Top of the Hill

The Fourth of July saw the old Hill really packed for the annual festivities. Riding their horses in the parade were Phil and Mary Delano, Virginia and Kenny Paul, Elmo Purnell and the Bardwell brothers from up Pine Cove way. A record throng surrounded the arena for the rodeo.

Saw Ann Goldberg whip by with a man in tow, Zeke Reed grabbing the jackpot in the calf roping, and Los Compadres members by the batch. The sawmill almost stole the show with visitors thronged around the big saws to watch the great pines become little shingles. Alice Butler and son Joal were among watchers.

REALLY GIVES OUT

Johnny Boyle really gave out with "Cool Water" and other favorites at the barbecue which followed the rodeo. It's good to have Johnny on the Hill this summer.

Cabins bulged to overflowing this weekend with an influx of house guests. Bunking up at Purnell's Wildwood cottage were Jeanette and Bill Parker. Down at the Paul's Shirley Hodge occupied a spare bed, Alice and Joe Butler moved in with the Earl Neels, Billie and Hutch Mosely surrendered our spare room to Alice and Earl Hough who only meant to drop in and say hello. The Merrill Crocketts are up for the week with daughter Donna and her husband Al Mills.

The Donald Locketts were house guests of the Gordon Nicholsons' this weekend when they came up to visit daughter Shirley at Azalea Trails Camp. At the close of camp, Mrs. Lockett and Shirley will hop a train for Chicago. The Abels are entertaining Mary and Jim Wolseth.

GOING BACK NORTH

After spending a most enjoyable week in Idyllwild, Professor and Mrs. Heber Nasmyth took leave of the C. S. Hendersons and will return this week to Victoria Island. Mrs. Nasmyth, who is Mrs. Henderson's sister, was in Southern California to attend the Kappa Alpha Theta convention held recently in Pasadena. Both she and her husband are professors of music at Washington State university.

Square dancing got under way Friday night at Pine Cove Lodge. Bob and Pat (Percival) Sawyer were busy putting their little feet right out if you get what we mean. The Sawyers have taken a house on Golf Course road this summer and Bob will divide his time between the airport, the ranch and the Hill.

DRAWS RECORD CROWD

Camp fire Saturday night drew a record crowd to watch the rangers perform. Saw the Frank Doros, the C. C. Neels, the Art Wills and the Francis Russells with their houseguests, Maude McQuillen and Sylvia Chaney.

The Inn has instituted a new form of entertaining which promises to surpass anything for entertaining. Following campfire on Saturday night there will be a cowboy jamboree in the lobby with Johnny Boyle and Cliff Campbell and other entertainment will hold forth. The Jack Downes brought their guests over from Four Chimneys to join the fun. Johnny Boyle, however,

Ray Kelley, who will open Edwin's, a home furnishing store in the new Palm Springs Corporation block in the Arcade on South Palm Canyon drive, was in town this week mapping plans for his new store in the same building which will house the printing plant of The Desert Sun.

As manufacturer's representative, he is now engaged in re-furnishing several local hotels and dining rooms.

Edwin's, which will have its formal opening upon completion of the Arcade building, will carry everything for the modern home, Kelley said.

"It has been hot and humid in New York but at the Mill Acre Farm in Newton, Conn., where we spent the July 4 holiday weekend, it was delightful. We're looking forward to our return to Palm Springs for the coming season."

That was the theme of a letter to The Sun this week from Lloyd Simon, prominent Villager, in the east for the summer.

HAMMADA—By—

MASON
SMITH*INTO THE TSAY-BEGAY—
Part II

Leaving the memorable toe-holds, we continued on around that mesa and down an old wash. There were very faint cart-tracks ahead of us, but no automobile had traversed this route in years. Ahead of us loomed the famed Totem Pole, one of the better known formations of Monument Valley. This unique rock spire is higher than the Empire State Building and at its narrowest portion is only some twenty feet thick! Its sides are not perfectly straight; rather it roughly appears like irregular squarish blocks stacked one upon the other, some thin, some fat, but all sealed together into one continuous column of red sandstone. Next to it, are several other isolated rock jettings, then a thin extension of rock from the nearby mesa. From the air all of those columns form a wide curve in ground-plan, as if parading out and around from the parent cliffs. From most vantage places, the Totem Pole is so far away it looks short, only a hundred feet or so in size. Even where we were, in the wash that courses just south of its base, it still looked dwarfed. Later we climbed to the top of the intervening ridge and saw that over a mile yet separated us from the Pole's actual base. No wonder it seemed tall.

On the opposite side of the wash, to our left, was the terminating flank of a great area covered with sand-dunes. These dunes stretch over a mile in a north-south direction, and are a brilliant orange-red color. As soon as we had parked the station wagon by two abandoned hogans, Chico and I took off our shoes and dashed up the nearest dune. As we had found the sand on our tour around Tsay-kizzy Mesa, so was this soft and sootying to our feet, more like flour or powder than the usual grainy sand particles. Jack followed suit, and the three of us were soon traipsing into the heart of the dunes barefooted.

GO UP INTO AIR

Some of these dunes on the far edge of the area are several hundred feet high, some of the largest to be found in the United States, and comparing favorably with the Great Sand Dunes of Colorado and with the White Sands of New Mexico. Climbing over them was very strenuous work, for our feet sank in up to the ankles with every step, and if the slope was steep, we slid back with each forward movement. We surmounted the nearest rise and sat down on the warm-surfaced sand to get our breaths. The view was spectacular.

Before us, spread over hundreds of acres, was wave after wave of sand, far into the distance, a veritable sea of orange-red undulations. Beyond the dunes, to the west, there was a wide gap across Juniper Butte and an unnamed Mesa, through which we could look across Juniper Valley and out through the magnificent East Gateway. There, dwarfed by the great intervening distance, were the same familiar sequence of monuments of that portion of the valley: Castle Butte, Old Indian Butte, the Stagecoach, and all the rest, with Merrick Butte and one of the Mittens the nearest to us.

As I sat there, musing, I recalled what I read of those early prospectors Merrick and Mitchell, who had invaded Monument Valley in search of the fabulously rich gold mines thought to be operated by the Indians here. This was back in 1879, and at that time, besides the Navahos, there were several bands of Piute Indians from the north living in the vicinity. It was these Piutes who disliked any White invaders, and especially those seeking to discover the source of their treasures. While Merrick and Mitchell were encamped just east of Goulding's present-day trading post, the Piutes planned a surprise attack at dawn, hoping to massacre them while they slept. The day before the whites had stopped at the hogan of the Navaho chieftain Hoskinini, for mutton and directions to the nearest watering place. Old Hoskinini had told them to go to the base of the nearest big isolated butte, where they would find such a source of water. The two prospectors had then journeyed onward and made camp at this huge formation, where they found a small pool of rain water. They planned to continue on into the Valley very early the next morning; so dawn found them all saddled and ready to depart, mounted on their horses, when the angry band of revenging Piutes rode up. Not finding their victims asleep enraged the Indians more. However, since the two men were awake and armed, caution must be used.

KILLED BY INDIANS

For several minutes the leader of the Piutes tried to provoke an argument, to force the Whites to lose their temper. He accused them of using Indian-owned water without their (Piute) permission. But neither Merrick nor Mitchell were in a mood for quarrelling. Then the Piute leader asked Mitchell for a plug of tobacco, and as the prospector reached for it, the Indian shot him dead in his tracks. The butte at the base of which this cowardly murder was committed is now called Mitchell Butte in honor of this early miner, who was only 21 years old at the time of his death.

When the shot was fired, Merrick whirled his horse and dashed off. The Piutes gave chase, wounding him mortally even though he managed to give them the slip and seek refuge among the boulders at the base of a large butte just over the rim of the valley, near the Mittens. There he died, alone, among the rocks, and the butte above him received the name of Merrick Butte in commemoration.

There are several accounts of this double murder by the Piutes, but the one described above is from the account given by the aged Chief Hoskinini (who just recently died), as told in the book "Traders to the Navahos" by Gilmor and Wetherill.

What untold stories there must be about the other buttes and monuments in this region. And what unknown, unexplored places yet exist here, places never before seen by Whites. I found myself imagining all sorts of fantastic ruins and erosional features when Chico gave me a shove and I tumbled over into the sand.

We wandered back into the very center of the dunes, and in many of the sand canyons everything but the cloud-filled sky directly above was shut out of view, with nothing but gentling curving angles of sand on all sides. Oddly enough, this area was not absolutely devoid of vegetation, as I would have thought. On the very tops of the dunes were small, but sure, but healthy clumps of a tough thick kind of grass. Investigating how they could get water there, I dug an experimental hole, and discovered that only a foot beneath the surface, the sand was very moist and damp. Evidently these rugged grasses can absorb moisture directly from the loose particles.

A sudden neighing startled us as we trudged up a steep bank. On the other side were three typically skinny Navaho horses. They were watching us intently, curiously, with no evidence of alarm or fright. As we approached, they leisurely wandered off and resumed their nibbling at the sparse plants. Where they got their water was a mystery. And we wondered if their owner knew where they were. They had been completely concealed from where we had begun our walk.

LETS IT ALONE

I overturned a small boulder on the edge of the dune area and was surprised to see a small scorpion underneath, the first I had found since I'd been in the Valley. It was not large and of a deep yellowish color, not unlike those I had once seen in the Tonto Basin far to the south. I took no chances with it. For that scorpion is deadly, its sting having caused many deaths among children and elderly people. Strangely enough, the best treatment for its poisoning is an ice-pack! Of course I could not be sure this was the same species, but it's best to take no chances. All scorpions are at least mildly poisonous to man and so should be avoided. The deadly variety is supposed to be limited in distribution to southern Arizona and adjacent Mexico.

The ripples on the dunes were beautiful to see, so delicately sculptured were they, trickling almost like water down the broad slopes. I hadn't paid much attention to sand ripples before, and if I had tried to draw them, I would have made them as continuous irregular lines across the dune. Actually they aren't continuous at all, but consist of many short irregular lines, all more or less parallel to one another and about equidistant.

The day was passing fast, and there were more pictures to take, so we scurried back to the car, took our last look at the Totem Pole and the dunes, and retraced our tracks up the wash to the Toe-hold Butte. Here we drove on east, past the natural arches at Leon's, past a small upright formation which I termed The Wedge, (because it seems to be thrust up between Leon's Butte and Echo Cave Butte), and on to Echo Cave itself. Just beyond here, in the east end of that butte, we stopped to eat our lunch. Our plans for the afternoon were to explore some of the several steep-walled canyons dissected out of this huge mesa, little dreaming that we were soon to accidentally discover a perfectly-preserved little cliff-dwelling ruin that heretofore had been unknown, never before seen by Whites!

West Coast in for Great Boom Says Local Realty Man

Watch the west coast spurt ahead.

That's what Peter B. Sheptenko, well known local real estate broker, said upon returning from a trip to Honolulu. While on the ship and in the islands, Sheptenko talked with many prominent national business figures and they all were of the opinion, he said, that the west coast of the United States was in for a big boom.

LOOK TOWARD EAST

"The Orient is the big coming market," he said. "From what big business men and manufacturers told me, it looks as if the west coast will be in the saddle. They're all looking toward the far east because they believe that the European markets will be slack for some time."

Mr. and Mrs. Sheptenko returned this week from a very enjoyable boat ride to the islands. While there they flew to Hilo and went to the volcano house, Kona Inn and around the island through the sugar cane fields.

PREFERS VILLAGE

On the boat over to the islands were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Pinney, formerly of Palm Springs. Mr. Pinney, brother of the late Judge Guy Pinney, was manager of the Royal Hawaiian on the islands.

The local realty man said he enjoyed the beach at Waikiki, the beautiful scenery and the daily rains but still preferred Palm Springs and southern California for a place to live.

He plans to spend the remainder of the summer here and in Hollywood with occasional outings to the beaches.

Vacationing

Mr. and Mrs. Archer
Touring in Arizona

Mr. and Mrs. George Archer of Palm Springs are enjoying a vacation trip to Arizona points, taking in the Frontier Days celebration at Prescott and later spending some time at the Grand Canyon.

"Think Palm Springs' Western Week has it all over the Frontier Days celebration," wrote Archer. "We enjoy the cool nights here but long for Palm Springs."

"We'll be back in the Village in August to sweat out the month with you."

Mr. Archer is a well known local accountant.

Village Pastor Finds Many of His Flock Along Road North to Vacation and Fishing in Pacific Northwest

Editor, The Desert Sun:

This journey up the coast has been more like a series of parish visits, for we have stopped practically every evening with friends who attend the Community Church in Palm Springs. And they certainly have not forgotten the scripture admonition, "Be not forgetful to entertain strangers."

At Stanford University we had a brief visit with Prof. and Mrs. Guerard, Mrs. Guerard being my only sister.

At San Francisco, we were royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nart and Margaret, who have a home on Arenas road.

At Petaluma we lunched with the MacNears who always arrive at the Desert Inn on the 3rd of January with the regularity of the Capistrano swallows.

MEET VILLAGERS

At Healdsburg we drove up to the 1200 acre sheep and prune ranch of Mr. and Mrs. George Proctor, visitors at Palm Springs and regular attendants at the church, in Palm Springs.

At Salem, Oregon, we had fellowship with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Spaulding; he is a rising young lawyer. Mrs. Spaulding has been generous with her gorgeous voice for several seasons in the little church. She is the medal holder of all musical societies in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and California.

They expect to spend part of next season in our village.

At American Lake near Tacoma, is the lovely estate of Mr. Alexander Baillie, and daughter Mrs. Ripley. Their Palm Springs home is in Little Tuscany.

Few places in America can rival this extensive estate which borders on the lake, not far from Camp Lewis where so many of our boys received training. This camp extends for miles along both sides of Hiway No. 99. Alexander Baillie was during his active business career with the firm Balfour Guthrie, shipper. He came to the coast as a young man more than sixty years ago and became one of the leading business men of the northwest.

BROUGHT IN GOLF

He recalled the time when he introduced golf into Portland. He sent to Scotland for a quantity of golf sticks and balls. When they arrived at the port of entry, the man in charge did not know what they were nor how much tariff to charge. He asked Mr. Baillie, who answered, "Just call them agricultural implements." Not a bad name for those sticks, seeing the way some of us play golf.

Last night in Seattle we dined with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stuart who during last season resided in Apache Court and who are building a fine home in the north Las Palmas part of our village.

All these are enthusiastic boosters for Palm Springs and are counting the weeks till they can return.

And today we completed our northern journey reaching Bellingham, 90 miles north of Seattle. A charming drive along the shores of Puget Sound. Here forty one years ago I arrived as a young minister full of enthusiasm to carry the gospel to this bustling lumber and saw mill town of 30,000.

LURE OF NORTHWEST

The lure of this northwest and green country and salmon fishing draws me nearly every summer. Twice was I pastor of the church in this city. First time for nine years and second time for six years, after which I was lured down to Palm Springs.

There ought to be no shortage of lumber judging from the innumerable lumber and shingle mills all along the way from Eureka north, on every hand the smoke arising from the big burners where the waste material is consumed.

Logging trucks, lumber trucks, and trains well dotted with the white lumber, everywhere.

We conversed with a lumber man from Long View, one of the large Weyerhaeuser company plants, who stated that one reason is that there are ten million more people needing homes in this country than before the war. The natural increase, and now the returnees by the thousands, married or ready to be married, and seeking for a place to live.

Just what this prying loose of ceiling prices may do to the building enterprise is anyone's guess.

STORIES COMING UP

Another reason he stated is the shortage of men milling or qualified to go into the forests to get out the logs. It is a precarious job, and many parts of the operation require skill and agility possessed by few.

This Pacific Coast of ours is simply glorious. 1400 miles of scenery, through diversified, agricultural, fruit and timber regions, not matched anywhere in the world.

We arrived safely here today and go over to Orcas Island on Tuesday to lie in wait for the incoming "silver horde."

Be prepared for some fish stories when we get back. Dr. and Mrs. John Robertson MacCartney.

of Cruise Party

Among guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hemphill on their 90-foot diesel yacht, Sea Cloud, for a three-month cruise off the Pacific coast are the Frank Davies and Irene Hendry, well known Palm Springs winter residents.

The Sea Cloud, after stops at Santa Barbara and the Santa Cruz islands, will proceed to Vancouver, which will be headquarters for side trips to scenic points in that vicinity.

The itinerary calls for peaceful days on the Pacific until Sept. 4.

Man Injured in Sidewalk Fall

Robert Garrity, 60, employee at a local hotel, was treated at Community Hospital Wednesday morning as result of injuries received in a fall in the 200 block on Palm Canyon drive.

He was taken to the hospital by Officers Robert Phillips and Jack Brooks in the city ambulance and later released after treatment for head cuts, to his hotel room.

Pat Holderman Graduates from Red Cross Course

Pat Holderman of Palm Springs has just returned from Emerald Bay, Catalina, where she attended an aquatic school for instructors for Red Cross First Aid, Water Safety and Accident Prevention. The training received there will enable her to better serve as a life guard, safety instructor and waterfront director for Palm Springs, local Red Cross chapter officials said today.

The 10-day school, which featured courses in safe water practice, life saving, first aid and accident prevention, represented one phase of the Red Cross program to "accident proof" America.

FOR ADVANCED PUPILS

Only advanced pupils are enrolled in this course. It will be recalled that Mrs. Holderman acted as a life guard when a student at Palm Springs high school. She said that the course was strenuous from six-thirty in the morning until "lights out" at night almost every waking moment was spent under supervision of capable instructors.

Emphasis was placed on safe use of boats and canoes for vacationers, in general "water-proofing" of America, and the 1945 changes in the Red Cross first aid text book. Every effort was made to enlighten those attending as to some of the problems that might have to be met in the community.

SEPARATE CLASSES

It was a disappointment to Mrs. Holderman that Palm Springs was to have only a half day swimming program with no full time life guard employed. It was brought out that the tots under six years should have classes in the morning without older persons in the pool, if they were to be taught to swim.

The information obtained at the school may well be directed towards applying Red Cross safety instructions to the peace-time recreation of the community as well as to prevent accidents in the home and on the highways, it was pointed out by Red Cross leaders here.

Son of Villager, World War Veteran, Weds L. A. Girl

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Kalback returned from Los Angeles this past week where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Kalback's son, Robert W. Boltz, June 30.

The ceremony, which took place in the Wilshire Crest Presbyterian church, saw young Boltz joined in holy matrimony with Miss Peg Ord, of Los Angeles. At the formal wedding, Mr. Robert Morton, step-father of the bride, gave her away in marriage. She was attended by four bridesmaids and Miss Ruth Peyton also of Los Angeles, acted as maid of honor. Jack Boltz, brother of the groom was the best man.

ON HONEYMOON

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the home of the bride after which the newly married couple departed for Las Vegas where they honeymooned for several days. They are now at the Grand Canyon.

The groom was honorably discharged from the Navy in April after serving approximately three years. Part of his naval career was spent on the carrier Yorktown. He attained the rank of radio technician second class by the time he was discharged from the service. Robert plans to return to the University of California, at Berkeley, to major in chemical engineering, studies which were interrupted when he entered the Navy.

CAMPUS ROMANCE

The romance of the newly married couple started on the campus of the University of California at Berkeley. When Robert entered the Navy, Mrs. Boltz, nee Ord, continued her studies at that seat of learning and graduated with a bachelor of science degree. Robert hopes to graduate within two years with the aid of the GI Bill of Rights under which benefits he will attend University.
